

Minerva Announces Leadership Transition

April 2, 2026

Jim O'Connor joins as Chief Business Officer and General Counsel

BURLINGTON, Mass., April 02, 2026 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Minerva Neurosciences, Inc. (Nasdaq: NERV), a clinical-stage biopharmaceutical company focused on the development of therapies to treat central nervous system disorders, today announced a leadership transition with the appointment of Jim O'Connor as Chief Business Officer (CBO), effective April 21, 2026, as Geoff Race, the Company's President, has elected to leave the company. Mr. Race will continue to be involved with Minerva as a consultant.

Mr. Race joined Minerva in 2010 and went on to serve in multiple executive roles including Executive Vice President and Chief Financial Officer, Chief Business Officer, and most recently President. Over his 16 years with the Company, he played a central role in establishing Minerva's operational, financial, and clinical development foundation.

"We are deeply grateful for Geoff's exceptional leadership, dedication and foundational contributions," said Dr. Remy Luthringer, Executive Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of Minerva Neurosciences. "Geoff's strategic guidance and commitment to our collective vision to improve the lives of patients living with negative symptoms of schizophrenia have shaped the company that Minerva is today. Geoff remains as a valued consultant during the leadership transition. The board of directors and I have complete confidence in Jim O'Connor's ability to strengthen our mission and help shepherd roluperidone successfully through the next planned Phase 3 trial."

"I'm honored to join Minerva at such a pivotal stage in its evolution," said Mr. O'Connor. "The Company's scientific foundation, combined with a clearly defined clinical path and a strong commitment to addressing significant unmet needs, positions Minerva for meaningful value creation. I look forward to working closely with the leadership team to advance our strategy and execute with the discipline required to deliver our ultimate goal of bringing roluperidone to market for what would be potentially the first FDA-approved therapy to treat the negative symptoms of schizophrenia."

About Jim O'Connor

Mr. O'Connor brings more than 20 years of legal and business leadership across life sciences, technology, and renewable energy. He most recently served at Axena Health (formerly Renovia) in progressive roles including General Counsel & Chief Operating Officer, General Counsel & Chief Financial Officer, and Interim Chief Executive Officer (CEO), where he led legal, IP, compliance, finance, regulatory, and strategic transactions. His experience includes: negotiating >$130 million in equity and debt financings; a commercial distribution agreement with Exact Sciences that included a $10 million investment; overseeing FDA 510(k) clearance and label expansions for a second-generation device; and achieving FDA Breakthrough Device Designation via a successful appeal. Earlier in his career he spent 12 years with United Technologies Corporation in roles including Vice President & Deputy General Counsel at Carrier and Chief of Staff to the President & CEO of UTC Building & Industrial Systems. He began his career as a corporate associate at Testa, Hurwitz & Thibault. Mr. O'Connor earned his J.D., cum laude, from Cornell Law School and a B.A., summa cum laude, in Economics from Boston College.
